Dear Friends:

I am proud to announce that the Port of Baltimore will serve as host to the 2011 Maritime and Transportation Security Expo. Maryland continues to be a national leader in efforts to provide for the security and safety of citizens, here in our State and across the nation.

Maryland is home to more than 50 federal facilities – including the National Security Agency, the Defense Information Systems Agency, Intelligence Advanced Research Projects Activity, National Institutes of Standards and Technology, and soon the nation's first and only Cyber Command. We are tremendously proud to be at the forefront of efforts to ensure the safety, security and reliability of the nation's data and global communications networks.

We are also home to an array of world-class institutions of higher learning that are training the next generation of homeland security experts. Our research institutions are developing the next generation of innovative technologies to detect and thwart attacks, all while making Maryland the home of one of the most highly-skilled workforces in the country. For these reasons and more, Maryland's assets have long attracted many of our nation's most innovative security companies.

In addition, we are a national leader in homeland security. Maryland has led the way forward with a diverse set of initiatives for bringing greater security to our state and our nation by securing our airports, roadways, tunnels and mass transit systems and we are the proud home of one of the safest ports in the United States, the Port of Baltimore.

This coming May, we look forward to hosting you for the Maritime and Transportation Security Expo, from May 4th through May 5th, organized by Maryland's own E.J. Krause & Associates, Inc. From our first responders to individuals and companies providing technology solutions, we look forward to welcoming you to Baltimore and the great State of Maryland.

Sincerely,

Governor

"The Maritime Security Conference and Exposition was extremely valuable in terms of the topics covered and the impressive array of maritime expertise present. I was particularly delighted to see the way in which the conference organizers fostered the participation of younger delegates and encouraged them to undertake award-winning analyses relative to contemporary maritime security. A must for your professional calendars."

*denotes invited

"We felt the show was a great success! It gave us an opportunity to meet with many of our customers"

DRS TECHNOLOGIES

"The Maritime Security Conference and Expo provides a valuable opportunity for government to speak about the new innovations that are being put in place and to communicate with providers of technology with whom we partner. This communication assists the providers in crafting their packages for securing our nation's ports and borders."

JAYSON AHERN,
FORMER DEPUTY COMMISSIONER,
U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION

The Maritime Security expo was very successful for us. We were able to put a "face with a name" for some contacts we had spoken with and found a number of organizations with exciting new operations, and were able to connect with them.

KATEY NOONAN, BROWN AND BROWN INTERNATIONAL

"It was a wonderful opportunity to interface with nationwide port security personnel and share best practices while addressing important maritime security concerns."

STEVE RUGGIERO, ASST DIRECTOR OF SECURITY, PORT OF LONG BEACH
